EXPLOSION! REPORT 100 DEAD

Two Carloads of Dynamite Explode at Jellico, Tenn., Wrecking Buildings, Killing and Wounding Scores of People.

BY PUBLISHERS' PRESS.

LONDON, Ky., Sept. 21.—A dispatch from Jellico, Tenn., says two carloads of dynamite exploded there this morning.

A Standard Oil tank was destroyed and several buildings demolished. It is reported that from seventy to one hundred were killed. The explosion occurred on the Louisville & Nashville track at the depot.

WILLIAMSBURG, Ky., Sept. 21.—The following message has just been received from Jellico, Tenn.:

"Explosion at Jellico, number of people killed. Engine coming. Get all the doctors in town and send to Jellico."

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 21.—A telegram just received from Jellico, a small village near here, reports the explosion of a quantity of dynamite, killing scores of people.

Jellico is a small mining town in the extreme northern part of Central Tennessee. It is in Campbell county, and is on the Louisville & Nashville railroad.

For Second Place on Independence Ticket, LABOR MEN BOOMED

Hot Fight Promised in League's State Convention in Faneuil Hall To-morrow.

A hot fight for the nomination for Lieutenant Governor, the second place on the Independence League ticket, is foreshadowed at the State convention of the Independence League to be held to-morrow at 2 o'clock at Faneuil Hall.

Fall River members of the league, at a meeting held last evening, came out enthusiastically for John B. Moran for Governor and John Golden as his running mate. Mr. Golden is president of the United Textile Workers of America. He is one of the most widely known organized labor men in the country.

In Brockton, Springfield and other sections the friends of E. Gerry Brown are booming him for second place on the ticket. Mr. Brown is chairman of the Wage Earners' Clubs of Massachusetts and a member of the executive committee of the Independence League. He is widely known in the labor world, in which he has worked many years.

Their Friends Hustling.

These two names are those most prominently mentioned in connection with the second place on the Independence League ticket. Others may be brought forward when the convention gets together. Friends of both Mr. Golden and Mr. Brown are hustling in the interests of their respective favorites.

Delegates from various sections of the State have been instructed to cast their ballots for John B. Moran for Governor. The mention of the name of the noted district attorney at meetings of the branch leagues has been the signal for outbursts of applause.

As to the rest of the ticket—that remains with the convention. Numerous names have been mentioned in connection with the other places to be filled and quiet booms have been launched, which will be tested on the floor of the convention hall.

Some of the delegates from the most distant parts of the State, it is expected, will reach the city this evening. The convention is scheduled to be called to order at 2 o'clock. It is thought that there will be an afternoon and evening session.

FALL RIVER LEAGUE NOW DECLARES FOR MORAN AND GOLDEN

Special to the Boston American.

FALL RIVER, Sept. 21.—"For lieutenant-governor, John Golden."

That will be the rallying cry of the Fall River delegates to the State convention of the Independence League at Faneuil Hall to-morrow. They will go to Boston determined to nominate the president of the United Textile Workers of America. They will attempt to secure the support of the delegates from the rest of the State, especially the big mill cities. They hope to nominate Golden. If so, they cheerfully look forward to electing him.

"The Sying wedge, which we organized for Douglas because we wanted to punish Bates, won't be a marker to the movement we will start to help Golden; or, for that matter, any clean, sound representatives of organized labor," said a leader today. "I believe Golden would be the strongest workingman that could be put up. Fall River will stand behind him to a man."

President John S. Gardner, of the Fall River branch of the Independence League, of which Mr. Golden is a member, is authority for the statement that John Golden has said he will accept the nomination if the convention gives it to him, and has authorized his labor friends in Fall River to take such proper means as they think best to secure him the votes of the delegates.

"Mr. Golden is not a seeker for office," said President Gardner, who, himself, stands high with the working people here, being a past president of the Loom Fixers. "He has had opportunities before to run, when success was certain, and he has been disinclined to enter politics. He has been urged by men who think labor should have a strong man upon the Independence League ticket to run, and has told me he will.

"Fall River will try to win for Mr. Golden in the convention. At any rate, the city will stand solidly behind the nomination, if he is a labor man."

The delegation is solidly for John B. Moran for Governor.

BROCKTON BOOMS E. GERRY BROWN FOR SECOND PLACE

Special to the Boston American.

BROCKTON, Sept. 21.—The Brockton delegates to the Independence League convention will meet to-night. Some of them were in conference last night by telephone with Springfield labor men, who have started a boom for E. Gerry Brown of this city for lieutenant-governor. There is no doubt that they will go into the convention primed to get every vote they can for the local man.

E. Gerry Brown is one of the best-known men in union labor circles in New England. He has been connected with labor movements for a score of years and no enemy has ever attacked his character or his record. He was for three years president of the Typographical Union, has been secretary of the Brockton Central Labor Union for four years, and is now the chairman of the Brockton Labor Party.

WARSHIPS AT HAVANA; REGULARS READY TO GO

TAFT'S FAILURE TO SECURE PEACE WILL MEAN INVASION BY U. S. TROOPS.

HAVANA, Sept. 21.—Secretary Taft's failure to secure peace in Cuba by means of diplomacy will result in the landing of 5,000 United States regulars.

The feeling here is growing more strained hourly.

It is not thought that the mediators can accomplish anything in view of General Pino Guerra's declaration:

"I will not lay down my arms until the American Peace Commission gives us substantial guarantees."

The United States battleships Louisiana and Virginia and the cruisers Cleveland and Tacoma arrived here to-day.

The battleship New Jersey, which accompanied the battleships down the coast is not far distant. It though her she may be cruising off Key West, awaiting orders by wireless telegraphy.

REGULARS ARE READY.

Five thousand United States regulars are in readiness to depart for Cuba at a moment's notice, say dispatches from Washington. That General Funston, who is under orders to come here to report to Secretary Taft, is to take up the military command when diplomacy fails is regarded as certain.

The mobilizing of the seven great war vessels in Havana harbor shows how critical the United States considers the situation.

General Pino Guerra, who is encamped with 6,200 men about twenty-five miles southwest of Havana, between Guanajay and Artemisa, says:

"I will not lay down my arms until the American Peace Commission guarantees that new elections shall be speedily ordered and held, because without such guarantees we have no safeguard against the treachery of the Palma administration."

The leaders of the revolt have called all the generals in the field to a conference in Havana. They are safe from molestation during the truce.

Guzman, Ferrera and other insurgent chiefs have prepared with Dr. Figueroa a document in which they express willingness to stop fighting if the government will not ship troops or war supplies over the railroad.

DEMAND NEW ELECTIONS.

Like General del Castillo, the rebel commander in Havana Province, Guzman, who commands in Santa Clara province, will not consider anything short of the annulling of the last general elections.

Dr. Figueroa Zayas, a government emissary, reached the Santa Clara rebels under Guzman just in time to stop the attack which had begun on Santa Clara city.

Rebels boarded the coasting steamer Ulk at Bahia Honda, demanded the mails, took all official correspondence and registered letters and then searched the vessel and passengers, taking such arms as they found.

The government tug Agramonte, with militia from Havana and carrying ammunition, has not been permitted to land at Bahia Honda.

Rural Guards Arrive.

The insurgents outside of Arroyo Arenas will allow nobody to pass, either to Havana or Arroyo Arenas. They seize the horses of all persons making the attempt. The stage line has been stopped and the mules seized.

One thousand rural guards and two thousand militia are now at Camp Columbia, close to Havana, reinforcements having arrived from Camagney.

A Washington dispatch says that the Prairie will sail in a day or two from Boston with as many marines as possible. She will be expected to report first at Havana and will then proceed to Cienfuegos.

The main consideration of the Government now, however, is the mobilization of the army, which is encamped principally at Columbia and some small detachments at other places in the Department of the Gulf. The idea is that the army may be moved about October 1.

MORE MEN FOR COLWELL.

Merchants who do not wish to prevent having as much display of force here as the administration deems proper will appeal to Secretary Taft to-day to keep some of the ships outside of the harbor, either at Key West or some Cuban port, where they can make the same show without harm to business.

One of the incoming boats will bring one hundred extra men for the Denver, so that if Captain Colwell again has occasion to make a landing he will be in a position to place ashore a larger force than when his move led to negotiations for an actual truce.

One of the strongest points made by the Cuban government to Secretary Taft is that the opposition consists of bandits not joined by any authority.

TO FIGHT JOKE COMMITTEE EXTENSION

Councilman McCullough announced today his intention of fighting the order at the next meeting of the Common Council, September 27, to extend the time of the joke municipal lighting committee, which yesterday, by a vote of 8 to 6, killed an order to report in favor of municipal ownership of lighting plants. Councilman McCullough said:

"The postponement of consideration of the report to November 1 is simply a cowardly dodge on the part of those opponents of the measure who are candidates for legislative offices, and fear to face their constituents after having killed the municipal ownership order. They seek delay until they have finished their campaigns for the Legislature."

Aided by the votes of Councilman John P. Noonan of Ward 16 and William J. Foley of the same ward, who represents Ward 7 in the Common Council, both of whom were elected upon pledges that they would vote for the referendum to the people upon this question, the opponents of municipal ownership succeeded in killing an order offered by Alderman James M. Curley that the committee recommend the adoption by the City Council of the provisions of Chapter 34 of the Revised Laws, which provide for municipal ownership and the reference of the question to the people.

The six who voted for the same motion at Wednesday's meeting of the committee, Aldermen Curley, Linehan and Hennessey and Councilmen McGrath, Sexton and McCullough, stuck to their original position, but the opponents of the measure through the active efforts of Alderman William Begwin, secured the attendance of two more opponents of municipal ownership at yesterday's meeting, Councilman Noonan, who ducked the vote on the question in the City Council early in the year, and Councilman Nichols of Ward 10. Both of these councilmen are candidates for Representative nominations.

PLAN ROUSING WELCOME TO IRISH LEADER

The final arrangements for the reception to Hon. Edward Blake, M. P., and Hon. T. P. O'Connor, M. P., at the Boston Theatre on Sunday, October 7, have been made by the Boston Central Council and the Boston Central Branch of the United Irish League. A rousing meeting and a royal welcome are planned. There are a very few tickets for the reception unsold.

Dr. P. J. Timmins, the president of the central branch, has appointed Mrs. Margaret E. Carey, Mrs. E. J. Mitchell and Mrs. O'Brien as delegates to the annual convention of the United Irish League of America at Philadelphia on October 2. They will leave Boston on Sunday, September 30, and go by the way of the Fall River line to New York.

During a joint meeting of committees from the two Boston organizations at the American House last night P. J. O'Hagan of Newry, Ireland, spoke on the benefits resulting from the passage of the land bills of 1903 and 1903. He predicted that it would not be long before the Irish people owned their own land. He said that nothing less than a parliament will fully satisfy them.

MALDEN BOY'S SCALP GRAZED BY BULLET

MELROSE, Sept. 21.—Harold F. Bacall, aged thirteen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bacall of Walton park, had a narrow escape from being killed in the yard near his home. Young Bacall and another boy were cleaning a revolver. The other boy pulled the trigger. The bullet struck Bacall on the left side of the head just above the temple. The bullet went through the scalp and passed out. The wound was dressed by a physician.

EXPECT INDICTMENTS ON LAWRENCE "GRAFT"

Special to the Boston American.

LAWRENCE, Sept. 21.—Grand jury returns in two graft investigations are expected to be made to-day. Five more witnesses in the probing relative to the election of Lawrence City officials in January of last year are being heard.

The witnesses in the Lawrence elections probe are John S. Powell, the Republican candidate for assessor, who was defeated by Dennis H. Finn, Democrat; Robert S. Maloney, president of the Lawrence Central Labor Union; Hugh McCormick, a Lawrence attorney; Barry T. O'Connell, City Treasurer of Lawrence, and John Flanagan, Assistant Superintendent of Lawrence Public Property.

Following the probing into the Lawrence charges, allegations of grafting in the awarding of plans for the new $200,000 school building at Malden and Summer streets, Haverhill, are to be considered by the grand jury.

A joint committee of seven, composed of Alderman and City Councilman of Haverhill, by a vote of six to one awarded the plans to C. Willis Leamon, a Haverhill architect. After the award had been made Alderman Goodwin, Republican, of Ward 6, Haverhill, declared that grafting had been discovered in the letting of the contract.

Alderman Goodwin was before the grand jury late yesterday. Teddy, his brother, Lamberton Goodwin, is awaiting summons before the grand jury to testify in the investigation, as well as Fred Shedd, Wilbur French, Harry French, Charles M. Brady, William C. Bagley and Lewis R. Hoyt, the latter six all connected with local newspapers.

District Attorney W. Scott Peters told a reporter for the BOSTON AMERICAN that he expected the grand jury to report in both graft probe cases to-day.

BEAR MILLIONS, GOLD, THROUGH HUB'S STREETS

With armed bank officers, clerks, messengers, policemen and Pinkerton detectives keeping vigilant watch, more than $2,000,000 in gold, which arrived on the Cunard freighter Sylvania to-day, was unloaded from the steamer and transported to the bank vaults.

The delivery was accomplished without anybody getting so much as a peek at the gold.

The seventy strong boxes containing the money were watched and counted from the second they were taken out of the steamer's strong room until they were loaded on to an express wagon and the Shawmut Bank's green motor wagon on the dock. One policeman and two armed clerks climbed into a spare wagon. The others got into the treasure vehicles. Then the whole valuable procession started toward the bank.

The exact amount of the consignment is $2,013,000. It comes from Gould, Barings & Co. of London. On the voyage over it was kept in a strong room adjoining Captain C. B. Cresser's cabin.

BOSTON MILK GOING UP TO 9 CENTS OCT. 1

Milk will go up two cents per quart on October 1, making the retail price nine cents per quart, which is the highest ever paid by Boston's public.

A threat of cutting off Boston's daily milk supply unless the advance is made in the main reason assigned by the leading wholesale milk firms of Boston for the increase. The Milk Producers' Association has made the demand and, as usual, the public will suffer.

Annually Boston's milk consumers have to shoulder a one-cent per quart advance on October 1 for the Winter months. Not satisfied with making the usual advance this year, still another raise of one cent will be demanded.

"No Just cause can be shown for such an advance, from 7 to 8 cents per quart, and the conditions do not warrant it, but the Milk Producers' Association demands it and the wholesalers are forced to do it," said A. E. Grauerholz, manager of the Boston Dairy Co., to a BOSTON AMERICAN reporter to-day.

ALL READY FOR INDEPENDENCE LEAGUE CONVENTION TO-MORROW.

Many Delegates Instructed to Vote for Moran for Governor—Two Prominent Labor Men Backed for Second Place.

man of the Committee of Fifteen of the Wage Earners' clubs and a member of the executive committee of the State Independence League. He has in past years been a Democratic candidate for Congress, State auditor and Mayor of Brockton, and was also the labor candidate for the latter office.

Mr. Brown has published the Brockton Diamond, a labor paper, for the past fourteen years.

DANVERS LEAGUE TELLS DELEGATES TO VOTE FOR MORAN

Special to the Boston American.

DANVERS, Sept. 21.—At a meeting of the Independence League last evening in Foresters' Hall a large gathering of citizens presented themselves to take part in the formal organization. Much interest was shown by those present in the movement taken by the league to suppress unfavorable government toward the working classes.

It was hard for the presiding officer to quiet the excitement in order to come to business and elect permanent officers of the league, so great was the enthusiasm. The following were elected:

Nicholas J. Murray, president; Robert Bolton, secretary and treasurer. Action was then taken on the election of delegates to the convention of the Independence League of Massachusetts, and the following were chosen: Nicholas J. Murray, Robert Bolton and Thomas Sullivan. They were instructed to support Moran. A committee was appointed to make arrangements for a smoke talk at the next meeting.

LOWELL CHOOSES 15 DELEGATES TO LEAGUE CONVENTION

Special to the Boston American.

LOWELL, Sept. 21.—Great enthusiasm characterized the meeting of the local branch of the Independence League held last night at the headquarters of Lowell's united labor organizations in Middle street, at which a permanent organization was effected, and sixteen delegates, including some prominent business men and not a few of those who have been prominently identified with labor movements, were chosen to represent this branch of the league at the State convention to be held in Faneuil Hall, Boston, Saturday, to place in nomination for the governorship a full Independence League ticket in November.

A masterly address on the subject of municipal ownership, which will probably be one of the most important planks in the league's platform, was delivered by Professor Frank Parsons of Boston, and his remarks were listened to with great interest by 300 auditors, representing all political factions in Lowell. At the conclusion of his address Professor Parsons was accorded a rising vote of thanks.

Frank M. Bell, a prominent labor man, was chosen president and Dennis J. Ring, a prosperous business man, was elected vice-president. Michael A. Lee was named as secretary and treasurer. The executive committee chosen was as follows:

John J. Mahoney, Frank Moran, William N. Osgood, a well-known Boston lawyer, who resides here; Frank M. Bell, Daniel E. Ashton, James Mecann, Professor J. Mircault, Joseph McDonald and P. J. O'Brien.

The delegates to the State convention were named as follows:

John J. Mahoney, Dennis J. Ring, Joseph P. Ashton, John Burt, Joseph H. McDonald, Frank M. Bell, William Rafferty, William N. Osgood, Professor J. Mircault, Richard Gibbons, Walter V. Burnett, Peter Hayden, Patrick Connolly, Michael McCann and James H. Doyle.

SPRINGFIELD MEN COME PLEDGED FOR MORAN AND BROWN

Special to the Boston American.

SPRINGFIELD, Sept. 21.—The Spring field delegation to the Independence League convention at Boston to-morrow is going to the city not only solidly lined up for John B. Moran for Governor, but as custodians of a healthy and rapidly growing sentiment for E. Gerry Brown of Brockton for the lieutenant-gubernatorial nomination.

The delegates had a meeting last night and agreed upon their attitude at the convention. They pledged themselves to stand for Moran "first, last and all the time," and to do everything in their power to help secure the second place on the ticket for the well-known labor leader of Brockton.

Superintendent Herbert E. Bullock of the Springfield Foundry Company, himself one of the best-known leaders of organized labor in the State, having been for ten years Grand Engineer Engineer of the Stationers' Union, is authority for the statement that E. Gerry Brown will be a candidate before the convention and will accept the nomination if it is given him.

"I regard Mr. Brown as a man deserving well of the workingmen of the State," some better," he said this morning, "and I feel the Independence League will have the strongest man in the State if it nominates him. This is a year when a workingman can win. Springfield will go to solid for Brown, and there will be other cities and towns with us. Mr. Brown has given me permission to speak for him to the effect that he will accept the nomination and has authorized me to conduct so much of a campaign as he may find time for. If there are other candidates—and I understand there is no state, as at most conventions, and there may be any number of others—we shall try to win. I think we will win.

"And afterwards?"

Afterwards? Well, can you think of a more popular ticket, with the rank and file of all parties in Massachusetts than John B. Moran and E. Gerry Brown?"

GOLDEN DOES NOT SEEK OFFICE; WILL WORK FOR LABOR MAN

LAWRENCE, Sept. 21.—John Golden of Fall River, who is in Lawrence on business connected with his position as president of the United Textile Workers of America, was asked to-day to state his position as to the nomination for Lieutenant-Governor on the Independence League ticket, to be nominated at Faneuil Hall to-morrow, a Fall River dispatch stating that he was a candidate.

"I will say to you what I said to the Fall River friends who asked me to run," he said. "I have never been a candidate for office. I am not one now, in the sense of being a seeker for it. I believe that this year, when as never before the workingman is going into politics 'to help his friends and defeat his enemies,' as Mr. Gompers said, is a proper time for labor, as such, to attempt to win a victory at the polls.

"I feel confident that a workingman with a good record, nominated by the Independence League, endorsed by the Wage Earners' Clubs and Central Labor Unions, would make the politicians in both parties realize that there was a contest on. My friends have said they think I am the man to make the fight. I have told them I am in their hands. I shall attend the convention as a delegate from the Fall River league, to which I belong. If I am not nominated and some other labor candidate is, I will take my coat off and work as hard for his election as I would for my own. The principle at stake will be the same in either case."

Mr. Golden is very busy with his Textile Workers' duties. He was in Maine during nearly the whole campaign, stumping the State with Gompers against the candidacy of Cornelius Littlefield.

NEW BEDFORD'S LEAGUE INDORSES JOHN B. MORAN

NEW BEDFORD, Sept. 21.—In one of the most enthusiastic and thoroughly successful politicial meetings ever held in this city, the executive committee of the New Bedford branch of the Independence League met last evening and elected delegates to the State Convention, to be held in Boston Saturday.

John E. McBride, chairman of the committee, presided and several speeches were made, notably one by President John C. E.

The following delegates were elected: John E. McBride, Benjamin Sykes, P. W. Kelliher, Dennis Shugrue, Joseph C. Desmond, John F. McGuinness, A. Morgan, T. J. Meany, Mathew Hart and John E. O'Neill.

Benjamin Sykes, president of the New Bedford Wage Earners' Club, was unanimously chosen as a member of the State Committee of the Independence League.

In a rousing speech Joseph C. Desmond eulogized John B. Moran, and it was unanimously voted that the indorsement of the New Bedford branch be extended to Moran for Governor. The delegation goes to the convention uninstructed.

WINTHROP WARM IN SUPPORT OF THE LEAGUE MOVEMENT

There was an enthusiastic Independence League meeting in Winthrop last night, when prominent citizens who believe that the people instead of bosses should rule political parties and run the government gathered at No. 42 Pleasant street and organized formally by electing C. W. Hall chairman and Louis J. Frazier secretary.

Every man who attended the meeting was enthusiastic for the cause of political and governmental freedom. Matthew J. McCarty, James H. Hennessy, John T. Kenney, William Pelonski and Charles W. Hall were elected delegates to the Independence League State Convention in Faneuil Hall to-morrow afternoon. They are representative of the best thought and the spirit of progress in Winthrop, and their ability and sincerity are sufficient indorsement to win to any political movement a large following in the town where they live.

Speeches were made in which the speakers dwelt upon the necessity of the people driving from public life the men who have plundered and betrayed them.

LEADERS IN INDEPENDENT LEAGUE MOVEMENT IN BOSTON WARDS

N. H. INDEPENDENCE LEAGUE TO FIGHT RING

WAGE EARNERS AND AGRICULTURISTS FROM ALL OVER STATE TO GET TOGETHE MONDAY.

Special to the Boston American.

CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 21.—The Boston & Maine Railroad has not completely won its regular biennial victory in New Hampshire. The Independence League, younger even than the Lincoln Club movement which made the Republican State convention of last Tuesday sit up and take notice, is yet to be heard from.

Of course the Leaguers in New Hampshire are to come together in this city on Monday of next week. The work of organization has been pushed along quietly, but none the less effectively, and practically every senatorial district is represented. Thus far wage earners and agriculturists form a big majority of the membership.

The Independence League in New Hampshire got a big send-off as the result of the commendatory resolutions adopted by the State branch of the American Federation of Labor on Wednesday, assembled in annual convention at Portsmouth, and membership pledges have already begun to pour in upon the State headquarters in this city.

Urges Full Attendance.

Today there goes out into the mail a letter of which the following is a copy:

"In pursuance of a resolution adopted unanimously by the New Hampshire State Federation of Labor at its annual convention in Portsmouth on Wednesday, recommending that labor men join with farmers and others in organizing Independence Leagues throughout the State for political action, A conference of persons who believe in the Independence League has been called at the Hotel Lenox in Concord next Monday at 12 o'clock.

"In view of the fact that the Boston & Maine Railroad succeeded in dictating the nomination of the candidate for Governor on the Republican ticket, action should be taken at once to make sure that the right kind of candidate—one who represents the people and not the corporations—shall be in the field at the election this Fall.

"League There to Stay."

"The fact that the organized workingmen of New Hampshire have formally approved of the Independence League and have voted to support it, together with the fact that leagues are already being formed in several of the towns and cities of the State, means that the Independence League is here to stay, and that it is going to be a power in New Hampshire politics.

"This conference to, be held next Monday is of very great importance. Your presence is earnestly requested."

J. P. Davis, of Boston, secretary of the Independence League in Massachusetts, has promised to address the meeting and he predicts has greatly encouraged the New Hampshire pioneers in the movement.

Monday's meeting, beyond doubt, is bound to mark the opening of a new era in New Hampshire politics.

WARD 22 VOTERS FORM LEAGUE AND CHOOSE DELEGATES

The Ward 22 Independence League was formed last evening at No. 35 Round Hill street, and the following officers were elected: Alexander Cohen, president; Robert M. McClellan, vice-president; and Samuel Cohen, secretary-treasurer.

"I have heard much talk around as to this Independence League, and from what I hear it has come to stay," said President Cohen, "and to-night we have organized here a good nucleus for a large league in this ward, which is very much needed, for the 'bosses' in the ward have had their day long enough. There is not the slightest doubt but that this movement will be successful in our locality, and I am going to make it as strong as possible can by personal hard work."

Vice-President McClellan said that he was glad to know that something was being done in the ward to fight the corporations and the trusts, and was pleased to be affiliated with such a movement. The following delegates were elected to the State convention, which is to be held in Faneuil Hall on Saturday: Alexander Cohen, Robert McClellan, Isadore Harris, Lewis R. Cohen.

LIPTON TO LIFT CUP AGAIN?

Special Cable to Boston American.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—Sir Thomas Lipton is to make another supreme effort to "lift" the America's cup.

The English baronet and sportsman left London to-day on board the Celtic for America on a business trip. He will visit New York and Chicago.

Sir Thomas said:

"I am going into the matter of another cup challenge thoroughly while in America, and I think it most probable that I will try once more to lift the trophy, although as yet I have decided on nothing definite."

"Good morning, dearest—have you used the Sweetheart Toilet Soap? If not, why not buy the BOSTON SUNDAY AMERICAN and get a full-sized cake free? It is hygienic and fragrant—a lovely soap for loveliness."

PLAN FIGHT TO BEAT STEVENS

The Somerville Wage Earners' Club meets to-night to lower Union Hall, Union square, Somerville, to pledge and endorse candidates for public offices and to outline a plan of campaign to beat Elmer A. Stevens for re-election to the State Senate. Mr. Stevens has announced that he will be a candidate for president of the Senate, if elected. It is charged that he voted and worked against every labor measure endorsed by the State Branch, A. F. of L., at the last session of the General Court.

Resolutions have been passed by the Central Labor Union denouncing the candidacy and calling the attention of wage earners to his anti-labor record.

NINETEEN GIRL SWIMMERS LINE UP IN DASH FOR AMERICAN'S CUP

CITY POINT COURSE, WHERE NINETEEN GIRL SWIMMERS WILL RACE TOMORROW

Number of Entries in Race Has Made It Necessary to Have Four Trial Heats Leading Up to Finals, Leaving Five Best to Decide Winner.

Nineteen contestants are entered for the BOSTON AMERICAN'S championship swimming match for Greater Boston girls, to be held to-morrow afternoon at City Point.

The splendid silver cup which the BOSTON AMERICAN offers as a prize is on exhibition in the show window of Wright & Ditson, the sporting goods house, at No. 344 Washington street.

Here are the nineteen girls who think that they are the champion swimming experts of Greater Boston:

Ellie Berlo, No. 9 G street, South Boston, seventeen years.
Anna Berlo, No. 9 G street, South Boston, sixteen years.
Catherine Berlo, No. 9 G street, South Boston, fourteen years.
Madeline Berlo, No. 9 G street, South Boston, eleven years.
Mary McDonough, No. 564 East Third street, South Boston, seventeen years.
Margaret McDonough, No. 564 East Third street, South Boston, fifteen years.
Rose Pitcoff, No. 337 Freeport street, Dorchester, eleven years.
Mayrone Kelley, No. 13 Centre avenue, Dorchester, fourteen years.
Anna Hennessy, corner Eighth and Dorchester streets, South Boston, thirteen years.
Katherine Fonseca, No. 18 Reddy street, Winthrop, sixteen years.
Rose Anderson, No. 20 Wordsworth street, East Boston, thirteen years.
Alaie Aykroyd, No. 20 Wordsworth street, East Boston, twelve years.
Annie O'Connor, No. 26 Locust street, South Boston, nineteen years.
Annie Moriarty, No. 531 East Sixth street, South Boston, fifteen years.
Lelia Hemmen, No 48 N street, South Boston, fifteen years.
Marion Colville, No. 107 M street, South Boston, eighteen years.
May Burke, No. 230 Sumner street, East Boston, thirteen years.
Florence Lagasse, No. 810 E street, South Boston, thirteen years.
Trixie Hickey, No. 91 Q street, South Boston, fifteen years.

It's to be a fair field and no favor, girls, and may the best one win.

Four From One Family.

Speaking of the winner. It is evident that the Berlo family of South Boston is to make a strong bid for that silver cup. The four Berlo girls in the race are some of the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Berlo. The family is noted for its swimming powers. The three sisters entered for the match have won various prizes in public races at the L street baths.

But, only one of them can win the prize at the best. And maybe some one of the other contestants will walk off—or rather swim off with the cup.

It will be noticed that South Boston sends thirteen out of the nineteen entries. But maybe the cup will go to Dorchester, or Winthrop, or East Boston, after all. We will all know a good deal more about that by next Saturday night than we do now.

On account of the increased number of entries it seems best to have the match raced in four trial heats. The contestants can draw lots for the heats, the first three heats having five girls each and the fourth having four girls. Then the five winners of the of the five trial heats can meet in the final to decide the championship and the possession of the challenge cup.

No girl will have to swim more than two heats at the outside. This will make a total of half a mile of swimming, which will not be enough to tire any skilled swimmer.

The race will be started at high tide, 2:30 o'clock, Saturday afternoon. All contestants need to report at 1:30 at the boat landing of Captain Clarence W. Stevens, adjoining the public landing at City Point. Time will be needed to draw lots for heats and arrange other final details.

The course will be one-fourth of a mile, by vote of the contestants. The latter will be taken out on a launch to a point just off the City Point pier and one-fourth of a mile out from the boat landing of Captain Stevens. From the starting point the contestants will swim to the finish at Captain Stevens's landing.

The course will be parallel to and less than 100 yards from the City Point beach. Thus a perfect view of the start, course and finish will be afforded spectators on the pier or along the beach.

Captain E. J. DeFreitas of City Point Life Saving Station has consented to act as referee.

Music will add to the excitement of the race. Proprietor L. A. Bova of the Headhouse at City Point announces that he will have a band to play during the afternoon.

Here's for fair weather and a good sporting contest.

Fire, which started near the stable at noon, and which was apparently extinguished, rekindled itself about ten o'clock and burst through the three-story wooden structure.

The building was owned by E. H. Shepard and F. M. Parker, and their loss is estimated at about $6,000. Charles Mahoney was proprietor of the house.

ARMED POSSES SCOUR WOODS IN MAN-HUNT

YEGGMEN WHO SHOT INSPECTOR IN MAINE BREAK CHASED BY HUNDREDS.

Special to the Boston American.

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 21.—Armed men and boys, deputy sheriffs, police officers and possiffee sleuths are today scouring the woods of Cumberland county in one of the most desperate man hunts ever known in these parts, seeking the two burglars who looted the postoffice at Bridgton on Tuesday night, and who shot Inspector Robinson in a midnight fight at West Baldwin. These desperadoes have given every indication of being as desperate as Tracy, the Western outlaw.

The whole western territory over into New Hampshire, is a wild state of excitement. Every town and hamlet has organized a posse of its own, and all last night parties armed with shot guns, rifles, revolvers, knives and other weapons patrolled about the woods over a section of twenty square miles. Not a sign of the men was found. Several suspicious characters were taken into custody, but upon proving alibis or having satisfied Sheriff Pennell or his deputies that they were not concerned, were released.

Women Are Carrying Guns.

So many men have left their homes in the hunt that the women have been practically deserted. Terror-stricken in the thought that the hunted men might descend upon their homes, these women have armed themselves, and to-day there is hardly a home throughout the section being hunted but what has a rifle or gun within handy reach of the female occupants. Last night women slept with guns beside their beds, and those who could not obtain weapons were guests of those more fortunate.

This morning the searchers, tired and worn, stopped for a few minutes at houses along their routes and took breakfast. Then the man hunt was resumed. It is estimated by Sheriff Pennell that the line of searchers now extends nearly fifty miles. Some of the most experienced woodsmen in the section are acting as guides and scouts for the parties.

GAS COMPANY'S HEAD LAUGHS AT MERCHANTS

Calls Protest Against Selection of Appraisers' Building Site "All Bosh."

NEGOTIATIONS SUSPENDED

Although a large number of representative Boston merchants have protested against the selection of the proposed new site for the government appraisers' stores now leased by the Consolidated Gas Company, President James L. Richards of that corporation asserts that the company has practically sold the site to the government through Secretary Shaw, and there will be no cancellation of the contract.

Nevertheless, President Roosevelt has instructed Secretary of the Treasury Shaw to postpone the completion of the negotiations regarding the site until the protest from Boston merchants is thoroughly investigated. The United States District Attorney's office in Boston has been notified to take no further steps in the examination of the title of the gas company's site, and all negotiations are generally suspended, despite President Richards's sanguine views of the situation.

Calls Merchants' Protests "Bosh."

President Richards says that the complaint of merchants that the site is inconveniently located is "all bosh." He says:

"The government acquired about seven acres of land at $5.50 a foot when smaller lots in the vicinity are sold for $8 a foot. The assessed value of the property is $240,000, and it was sold to the government for $250,000. We cannot now give up the proposition because 120,000 gas consumers would be affected. Our benefit becomes theirs."

At a banquet given the heads of the departments of the gas company at the Parker House last night President Richards spoke of the benefit received by the consumers. He spoke of the three reductions made in the price of gas since June, 1905, and said that he believed that the company enjoyed the good will and confidence of the consumers.

He also outlined a scheme by which it is provided that the employes of the company, who number some 600 to 700, will become stockholders and draw dividends and premiums on their salaries. The premiums shall be invested in stock, which in turn will draw the usual interest. Mr. Richards said that in one year, under this plan, the company would pay out $75,000 to its employes.

Moves Vote of Thanks to Company.

Captain E. W. McKay, engineer in charge of construction, said at the banquet:

"The erection of the government building on the gas company site would be a good advertisement for us.

"I move we give a vote of thanks to the board of directors for what they have done, especially when we think of what might have been."

It seemed that this sentiment of Captain McKay was directly applied to the Appraisers' Stores deal.

TRAIN SMASHES INTO BUFFER; 2 WOMEN HURT

AIR BRAKES ON MIDLAND DIVISION CARS FAIL TO WORK IN SOUTH STATION TO-DAY.

Miss Mary Ball, of No. 20 Wordsworth street, Worcester, and Mrs. Mabel Phillips, of No. 43 Nightingale street, Dorchester, were injured in a train accident at the South Terminal Station at 8:30 o'clock today, when the air-brakes on a Midland Division suburban train refused to work. The train was heavily loaded with schoolgirls, and when the engine crashed heavily into the buffer at the end of track 17 the passengers were badly shaken up.

Miss Ball was thrown to the floor of the fourth coach and sustained lacerations about the head. She was removed from the train and later sent to the Relief Hospital in an ambulance. She is not badly injured.

Mrs. Phillips was also slightly injured, and received medical attention at the Relief Hospital.

2 MORE HURT IN VANDERBILT AUTO TRIALS

By Boston American Leased Wire.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—"Wallie" Owen and his mechanician, while taking their last practice spurt to-day in the eighty-horsepower Maxim racing car in which they were to enter the elimination trials in the Vanderbilt cup race to-morrow, had a cylinder head blow out on the East Norwich road at Dead Man's Curve and were flung out as the car swung over to the side of the course.

Neither of the two men was much hurt. Owen telephoned to King's Hotel for help. Walter White, in a big White touring car, headed one rescue party, while Chrisdie, in his 110-horsepower Christie car, started with his mechanician from Bull's Head. Both had a narrow escape from collision as they came along at a terrific clip in opposite directions. White had to put on his brake, throwing all four of the occupants of the car to the road. None was hurt.

MRS. ASTOR IMPROVING, SAYS DOCTOR

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 21.—Mrs. William Astor to-day appeared down stairs at Beechwood, her Newport home, but received no callers.

Dr. Austin Flint, Jr., Mrs. Astor's physician, says his patient is slowly improving.

Mrs. Haig, Mrs. Astor's daughter, is at Groton, where her son is at school, but is expected back in a few days.

Colonel John Jacob Astor is on the Atlantic, en route to New York, and will come to Newport immediately after landing.

NUTS AND BOLTS GO UP.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—The Nut & Bolt Association decided, yesterday, to advance the price of nuts, bolts, etc., on an average of five per cent.

FIGHT FOR RICHES OF RUSSELL SAGE ENDS

By Boston American Leased Wire.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—There will be no court fight for the $100,000,000 left by the late Russell Sage, the greatest money leader Wall Street ever knew. Master Edson M. Conrad of Troy, eight years old, was elected by the other heirs as the one to make the contest because he is the most distant of the living blood relatives of the dead financier.

There is a provision in the will providing that any legatee who contests it shall be cut off entirely. If the case was to be lost, the other heirs were to pay him what he lost by his effort to break the will. The immense fortune of the old money lender was left almost entirely to his widow. Other heirs claimed that Sage was unduly influenced, was of unsound mind, and that the will was not properly executed. The fight over the document was to have begun in the Surrogate Court here to-day, and one of the most sensational legal battles on record was looked forward to.

DeForest Brothers, attorneys for Mrs. Russell Sage, to-day issued the following statement:

"Assuming no contest of Mr. Sage's will by reason of Mr. Sage's relatives who are beneficiaries under his will an additional amount equal to his or her legacy and to do this as soon as possible after her qualifications as executrix."

Surprise When Fight Was Called Off.

Great was the public surprise when Senator Edgar E. Brackett of Saratoga, counsel for young Conrad, announced that there would be no contest. What settlement was made between the widow and the heirs is not yet known. It is said that the executors will make a statement later in the day.

The heirs had collected a great mass of evidence to support their claims that the famous "put and call" millionaire was in the dotage when he made the will, and that the document was not what it would have been if he had been left to act of his own volition.

It is believed that the contest over the will might reveal startling secrets of the dead financier's private life.

KIDNAPPERS IN FIGHT FOR BOY SHOOT OFFICER

Bind Child in Front of Home, Then Engage Policeman in Pistol Duel.

PROVIDENCE, Sept. 21.—The police today are working on one of the boldest attempts at kidnapping in years which took place near Lakewood just before noon yesterday. It was frustrated through the interference of the neighbors and by Constable Charles Taylor, who was shot in the arm and head.

Albert Raymond Chebeneau, a four-year-old boy, was playing about the yard of the house occupied by his parents, when neighbors noticed that two men had seized the child and had tied him, and evidently intended carrying him off.

Charles Taylor, who is one of the constables of the town of Warwick, was called and attempted to place the men under arrest. As he did this, one of the men drew a revolver and fired a shot at the constable. The shot grazed the latter's head, whereupon the men ran into the woods nearby, leaving the boy bound upon the ground.

As they were disappearing into the woods, the constable fired at them. They returned his fire, one of the shots striking him in the left wrist.

SHIP HITT'S BODY TO-DAY.

NARRAGANSETT PIER, R. I., Sept. 21.—Congressman Robert H. Hitt of Illinois died yesterday at his Summer home, Kinney Lodge, aged seventy-two. His body will be shipped to Illinois to-day.

MAYOR TAKES WARD 8 WAR UP ONCE MORE

Another West End Employe Is Discharged From the Sanitary Department.

The war of Mayor Fitzgerald upon Ward 8 has been resumed after a short truce by the discharge of John P. Coffey, a feeder in the West End yard of the Sanitary Department. It is stated about City Hall today that the fight would be carried on without interruption until Martin M. Lomasney sued for peace. Several more discharges, it was rumored, would occur either to-day or to-morrow.

Heads of departments, when questioned upon the subject, professed ignorance of any discharges to occur, but it is a notorious fact and one which at least one department head is very sore about, that Mayor Fitzgerald has ordered several of the recent discharges without consulting his department heads.

Notwithstanding the fact that Councilman Daniel J. Kiley offered to provide a ball and goloshes with his senatorial opponent, former Alderman Edward W. Dixon of Ward 6, at any place the latter might name, Dixon, acting under orders from the Mayor, has declined Kiley's challenge.

In the Pelipont school on Hudson street, Ward 7, last night the largest crowd ever assembled at a political rally in the ward listened to Kiley lay Mayor Fitzgerald and challenge his opponent to come out and face him on the stump and not hide behind the intimidatory powers of the administration.

A Surprise for You at Our Opening of

Men's Fall Suits and Overcoats

A good clothes exhibit never equalled in the history of our business, and, as is characteristic of this store, We Open the Season with a Special Sale. We do not start high and reduce prices as the season advances. You don't have to wait until the winter is half over before you find prices to suit you. No formality here. No waiting for somebody else to set a precedent. No observance of the "Traditions of the trade" as regards the proper time for cutting prices, our time is when you want the clothes.

Clothiers will tell you that woolens are high, that it is difficult to get choice merchandise, that conditions are harder than ever before for the man who wishes a good suit or overcoat at a moderate price—all of which may be true enough in a general way—but it is under just such conditions that this house shows its strength. The more difficulties in the way, the more this house is thrown into striking contrast, and the advantage of trading here is emphasized.

Just come to our clothing department and see the array of fine merchant-tailor fabrics and patterns made into ready-clothes, with every custom-tailor kink and detail. The new Diagonal and Herringbone worsteds, Velour-finish cassimeres, chain-weave serges, double-and-twist suitings, and all the latest effects. Newport slates, Balmoral blue, coaching stripes, club checks.

Then look at the style of the garments: the Fifth-Avenue sack suit, 33½ inches long with shaped back, creased side seams, the new hook vent in the sleeves, the natural shoulder and full lapel, with long roll. The Hanwell sack—a bit more conservative in style. New raincoats, French back fall overcoats. All worth seeing if only to post yourself on the correct fashions for the coming season.

Then if you want to see values they are here for you. You can buy your fall suit now and get the benefit of it through the whole season.

We want to go on record with the prediction that there is nothing in Boston—nothing in New England—to match the values with which we will open our department.

In this announcement we treat principally of our finer goods. The price advantages are sharply contrasted with the figures asked for like quality anywhere in Boston, as a glance through our store will reveal—and such a wide range of prices, too—any man, however esthetic his taste, or however limited his clothes money, can find something here to satisfy. Just look at the prices,

$10, $12.50, $13.50, $15, $18, $20, $22.50, $25, $28, $30

Do it Now! Don't Wait Until It's Too Late!

KEEP your body clean!

Most people are very neat and clean in their outward appearance, but how about the inside?

Are you clean inside?

And if not, how can you face the world with clean thoughts, clear intelligence, a fair, just, bright mind and get your full share of capacity for work and enjoyment?

* * *

Neglect of exercise, rich over-feeding and carelessness about stools, often leave the delicate internal mechanism in a nasty mess.

The small intestine is compelled to absorb the poison of decaying matter instead of wholesome nourishment.

The liver gets inactive; the bile doesn't "work off"; the eyes get yellow; the skin gets dead like putty and pale like dough, disfigured with boils, pimples, blackheads and liver-spots.

* * *

There's only one solution to the problem: Keep clean inside all the time. That's the answer.

If you can not diet, or keep your mechanism going by proper exercise, take Cascarets, the sweet, fragrant, harmless little vegetable tablets, that "act like exercise" on your bowels.

A Cascaret every night before going to bed will "work while you sleep" and make you "feel fine in the morning."

Take a Cascaret night and morning and break up the "constipated habit" without acquiring a "cathartic habit."

* * *

Cascarets are sold by all druggists, 10c, 25c and 50c. The 10c size trial box is a neat fit for the vest pocket or lady's purse.

Be sure to get the genuine with the "long-tailed C" on the box and the letters "CCC" on each tablet. They are never sold in bulk. n744

DUKE'S FORMER WIFE MAY MARRY HUNTOON

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Mrs. Marion Nanette Duke, divorced wife of James B. Duke, president of the American Tobacco Company, sold her residence at No. 11 West Sixty-eighth street, yesterday, to Mrs. Tyler, a wealthy widow, for $70,000.

Speaking of the sale and of the report that she was about to become the wife of Major Huntoon, who figured in the divorce proceedings of the Dukes, Mrs. Duke said:

"I have disposed of this house simply as a matter of my own convenience and for no other reason.

TIRED OF LIFE AWFUL SUFFERING

From Dreadful Pains From Wound on Foot—System All Run Down After Six Months' Agony—Not Able to Work—Completely Cured In Two Weeks

MIRACULOUS CURE BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"Words cannot speak highly enough for the Cuticura Remedies. I am now seventy-two years of age. My system had been all run down. My blood was so bad that blood poisoning had set in. I had several doctors attending me, so finally I went to the hospital, where I was laid up for two months. My foot and ankle were almost beyond recognition. Dark blood flowed out of wounds in many places, and I was so disheartened that I thought surely my last chance was slowly leaving me. As the foot did not improve, you can readily imagine how I felt. I was simply disgusted and tired of life. I stood this pain, which was dreadful, for six months, and during this time I was not able to wear a shoe and not able to work.

"Some one spoke to me about Cuticura. The consequences were I bought a set of the Cuticura Remedies at one of my friends who was a druggist, and the praise that I gave after the second application is beyond description; it seemed a miracle, for the Cuticura Remedies took effect immediately. I washed the foot with the Cuticura Soap before applying the Ointment and I took the Resolvent at the same time. After two weeks' treatment my foot was healed completely. People who had seen my foot during my illness and who have seen it since the cure, can hardly believe their own eyes."

Robert Schoenhauer.

Aug. 21, 1905. Newburgh, N.Y.

Sold throughout the world. Cuticura Soap, 25c. Ointment, 50c. Resolvent, 50c. (in form of Chocolate Coated Pills, 50c. per vial of 60), may be had of any druggist. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., 27 Columbus ave., United States, "The Great Skin Doctor."

CALLENDER IN MID-OCEAN AS BOOM GROWS

"On the way" is the explanation made by Manager John Albee, who considers for the Republican candidacy of Ex-Senator Edward B. Callender of the Tenth Congressional District.

Ex-Senator Callender is a Harvard graduate and he followed the reunion crew to England and is now on the Atlantic returning to the United States. The Ex-Senator is expected home Saturday or Sunday, when he will be informed of his boom that has take place during his absence. The primaries are to take place next Tuesday, so that the Ex-Senator has but little time for campaigning.

While Ex-Senator Callender has been away, Senator Logan and Joseph F. O'Connell are having a bitter fight for the nomination in the Democratic ranks.

INTERESTING FACTS.

For Nearly Every Man, Woman or Child.

A short time ago we published an article recommending to our readers the new discovery for the cure of Dyspepsia, called Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and the claims then made regarding the wonderful curative properties of the remedy have been abundantly sustained by the facts. People who were cautious about trying new remedies advertised in the newspapers and were finally induced to give Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets a trial were surprised and delighted at the results, in many cases a single package costing but 50 cents at any drug store made a complete cure, and in every instance the most beneficial results were reported. From a hundred or more received we have space to publish only a few of the latest but assure our readers we receive so many commendatory letters that we shall publish each week a fresh list of genuine, unsolicited testimonials and never publish the same one twice.

From James Yemmeister, LaCrosse, Wis.: Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are doing me more good than anything I ever tried and I was so pleased at results that I gave away several boxes to my friends who have also had the same benefits.

From Jacob Anthony, Portmurray, New Jersey: I have taken Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets with the best results. I had Dyspepsia for 6 years, and had taken a great deal of medicine, but the Tablets seem to take right a hold and I feel good. I am a farmer and lime burner and I heartily recommend to everyone who has any trouble with his stomach to use these Tablets.

From Mrs. M. K. West, Preston, Minn.: I have received surprisingly good effects from using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I gave one-half of my last box to a friend who also suffered from indigestion and she had the same good results.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are a certain cure for all forms of Indigestion. They are not claimed to be a cure-all, but are prepared for stomach troubles only, and physicians and druggists everywhere recommend them to all persons suffering from Nervous Dyspepsia, sour or acid stomach, heartburn, bloating or wind on stomach and similar disorders.

O'CONNELL'S RECORD

1897 to 1904—Repudiated by the Democratic voters of his own ward. Never elected to even a place on his own Ward Committee, though a candidate many times.

1897—Opposed regular Democratic nominee for Mayor, Josiah Quincy. Some of his speeches against Mr. Quincy are reported in the Boston Herald on Dec. 10, 12, 16, 17 and 19, 1897.

1901—Opposed the regular candidate for Mayor, Patrick A. Collins, and was connected with the movement to elect Thomas N. Hart Mayor against Patrick A. Collins. Evidence of his connection with this movement is reported in the Boston Journal, Nov. 2 and 3, 1901, and the Boston Herald, Nov. 4, 1901.

Worst of all Mr. O'Connell has denied the truth of these charges of treachery to the Democratic party. The Democrats of the 10th district know the facts and will deal summarily with the man who dares deny truths known to all men.

LABOR NEWS

UNION PRINTING DONE HERE 90

Fourteen union carpenters struck on the Suffolk Bank building in Scollay square yesterday, refusing to handle interior trim furnished by the Derby Desk Company. This company has been on the unfair list of the American Federation of Labor for over two years. The men obeyed instructions of officials from the Carpenters' District Council, and were all placed at work on other jobs.

WHEN A MAN'S SICK

Why Business and Professional Men Break Down in Health.

When a man is sick he can't work. Business goes to the dogs. His income dwindles—perhaps stops. He suffers—so does his family.

Ninety-nine times out of one hundred men who work with hands or brain are pulled down in health by impaired digestion, by an anemic condition of the blood or by nervous disorders.

Are you all run down? Are you nervous and miserable? Do you suffer from insomnia?

If so, procure a bottle of Trappist Fathers Phosphated Wine of Chichona from your druggist at once. It will put you on your feet quicker than anything you ever saw.

The monks of the Trappist Monastery in Canada makes this valuable tonic. It is pure, it is honest, it is not a patent medicine.

It gives you an appetite, it makes your food digest, it builds up your body, your strength, your vital energy, your vigor; it makes new blood. It is exactly the tonic you need.

It is pleasant to take. It makes your eyes bright, your brain clear, your step elastic. It takes years off your age. Get a trial bottle today.

AID STRIKING GOLD BEATERS.

The Carpenters' District Council endorsed the gold beaters' strike last night, and instructed its delegates to have their organizations use every effort to have union gold leaf used on jobs where they have men employed. Hugh McKay and Alexander McLeod, both of East Boston Union No. 218, were elected to act as delegates at the meeting of the council tonight at Scleva, in place of A. M. Watson and P. R. Kickham, who are attending the convention of the brotherhood at Niagara Falls. Seven members were fined for violating trade rules.

PATTERN MAKERS' OFFICERS.

The following officers have been nominated by Pattern Makers' Association to be elected next Wednesday night: President, W. A. Clough; vice-president, A. C. Reed; recording secretary, L. C. Powers; financial secretary and business agent, M. L. Gell; treasurer, C. H. Clarke; trustees, L. J. Van Ham, O. H. Bean and William Burrows; guides, E. H. Anderson, Joseph Magunson and W. B. Lucy; sentinel, E. M. Crouch. Robert Bonner, J. J. Baldwin and Joseph Fitzgerald. Five dollars has been donated the striking gold beaters.

HORSESHOERS ARRANGE BALL.

One of the first annual balls to be held by a labor organization the coming Winter will be that of Horseshoers' Union No. 8, in Paine Memorial Hall. The ball committee has organized with M. J. Roche chairman and Joseph Boyle secretary. M. C. Roche, Joseph Boyle and George O'Brien have been chosen a sub-committee on badges and souvenirs. An entertainment will precede the ball.

LABOR NOTES.

Stationary Engineers' Union No. 16 has called a special meeting for tonight to take action on the resignation of several officers and the alleged intimidation of members.

Boston Plasterers' Union No. 10 has indorsed Abram S. Hewitt for Congress and Frank J. Linehan, for the State Senate. Mr. O'Connell's father has been a member of the union for about twenty-five years.

John H. Spencer has been elected business agent of Waiters' Union No. 60 in place of John Gorman, who has resigned.

A Wage Earners' club has been formed in Chelsea, and another meeting will be held in Central Hall, Broadway and Fourth street, next Monday night. Select officers and place the organization in permanent business.

Massachusetts Lodge No. 1, National Association of Stationary Engineers, will hold its annual ball in Paul Revere Hall on Thanksgiving eve.

ATTEMPT TO STEAL MILLIONAIRE'S WILL

BRIDGEPORT, Ct., Sept. 21.—Hardly five hours after the cable of millionaire Ratcliffe Hicks's death in Switzerland was received two men were discovered tampering with the safe in his office and the police were called in. The men evidently thought his will was in the safe and were going to steal it. Mr. Hicks's only heir is Miss Elisabeth Hicks, 23 years old, of New York.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 21.—Two double headers in two days is going some, but as the Boston Americans and the Naps are both in good condition neither minds it to any extent.

Young and probably Glaze, and Hess and Perhaps Townsend will work in this afternoon's games, which no doubt will bring out a large crowd as Friday is ladies' day.

Business Manager McBreen said last night that the Boston club had not yet notified him as to the selection of a manager for next year, if, indeed, such selection has been made.

"Tom McCarthy's name was among those considered for the management," said he, "and it is not impossible that he is the man chosen. I would prefer not to say who were the other men under consideration."

Pitcher Liebhardt, purchased from the Memphis club, reported yesterday but he will not be used until Sunday, when the Naps play the American Association champions at Columbus. Liebhardt was famous in the South as the "Iron Man" because he pitched a number of double headers with success.

QUAKER BOY TO MEET DESHLER AT CHELSEA

Local fight fans will have the opportunity of seeing the best lightweight in Philadelphia perform shortly, as Young Erne boxes Dave Deshler at the Lincoln Athletic Club next Wednesday night. Deshler has a great following in the Hub, so that it will settle an interesting championship.

It will be Erne's first appearance in this city, but his record in his own town is sufficient to show that he has great possibilities in his class.

He is to meet Deshler at catchweights, which will be beneficial to both, and they will not have to worry over the necessity of making weight on the day of the bout. Under the conditions they will be at their strongest and able to show the best that is in them.

When they met in the Quaker City a year ago Erne had a slight margin over Deshler, as he was too fast for the local fighter, but Deshler figures that in a longer distance he will be able to beat the Erne.

That he has a bunch of trouble on his hands is clearly evident from the brilliant career that Erne has made following in the footsteps of the Philadelphia immortal. He has defeated Abe Attell twice, which speaks for the class of his speed, and natural ring cleverness, while "Young Corbett" and Harry Lewis were counted as his victims.

As usual there will be two good preliminaries, as Jim Lloyd, the English fighter, meets Johnnie Mahon of Cambridge and Kelley O'Brien will be matched to meet Johnnie Lynch or Al. Bates. Since O'Brien beat Ike Bradley he has boomed his game.

WHITE DITCHES CAR TO PREVENT COLLISION WITH CHRISTIE ON COURSE

BY J. C. KERRISON.

GARDEN CITY, N. Y., Sept. 21.—Willie Owens the eight-cylinder Maxwell, while tearing at a high rate of speed on the Northern Turnpike about 6 o'clock this arning, met with an accident which placevals car temporarily out of commission.

This was only the third time that the Maxwell had been over the course, and having noted that portion of the road, was let on for a terrific burst of speed, suddenly here was a loud explosion, the first motorsticking way, and the car sliding along underits own momentum for several hundred feds gradually came to a standstill. Owens and his mechanic both jumped out of the car and an inspection showed that one of noboth of the cylinder heads had been blown off. Fortunately the car was not ditched nor did it turn over, so that accident was averted. Other cars soon came to thraid, and it was towed to the starter. It is fateful if it will start to-morrow. If not the twelve-cylinder will in all probability beunbothered.

Bad Accident Averted.

Waier Christie, who returned to the course this morning for the first time since his accident of Monday, was given a narrow escape while going Owen. Walter White over the old course to the old Westbury road. Walter Christie was the course at a mile a minute pace. It looked as though both cars would come together.

With rare presence of mind, White steered to the left, dipping the car and driving the road to Christie, who shot by like the wind, clearing it by about a foot. It was a narrow escape, to say the least. Had not White done as he did there is no question but what a fatality would have been recorded, for the driving of others in the car with Walter White. As it was, not one of the cars received a scratch, nor was either car injured in the least.

This was the last day in which any of the candidates for the Vanderbilt cup could do further work, and although there were many on the course for the first time repaired, Christie with his repaired racer was the only one to attempt speed, he doing the course in thirty-two minutes. He took the stretches at speed, showing down in the turns. Harding in Haynes clocked the course in 36:30. Other than this there were no trials.

Joe Tracy covered the course in his racer car at leisure, with the Pope, Thomas, as Matheson and Frayer Miller racers all remained in the stable. Keller in the Olds went around the course.

The first man to do any practice work this morning was H. L. Bowden of Boston, who arrived here yesterday. About 4 o'clock this morning he, together with his friend, Mr. Barnes, drove the Flying Dutchman II. around the course in thirty minutes.

All cars are to be weighed in during the day, and this performance, it is believed, will bring forth interesting results in the matter of weight.

President C. A. Singer of the Matheson company told the writer this morning that he did not expect his car to finish the contest, owing to the fact that Manager has been ordered by his physician not to start in the race. Mosfield, it will be remembered, broke his right wrist early in the week, yet despite this fact he has kept in training, this morning being the only one that he has not appeared in practice, and he remained away from the course entirely to rest for the morrow. He will surely start, and says he will stay in the race as long as he possibly can, as he is confident that his car can get the distance at his rate of speed.

It now looks as though there will be 12 starters, the alternates being the Apperson, Buick in the event of a breakdown, and the E. M. F. 30, which has not yet reached the course.

SILER CLAIMS BIG DAMAGES FROM NOLAN

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—Billy Nolan and Battling Nelson are the defendants in a suit brought by Referee George Siler for $50,000 damages.

Siler let fight both Nolan and Nelson, have repeatedly been quoted as saying that Siler received money for giving a decision in favor of Gans, and that his conduct as a referee was dishonorable. They have also been quoted as saying that Siler never saw the foul blow on the strength of which he awarded the fight to Gans. All of these statements Siler declares to be untrue.

If the Tenneyvilles do as well against the Choirs as they did against the Quakers, who have just left town, they should have little difficulty in winning two of the three games scheduled.

It is quite a contrast between the work of the Bostons last week and their showing up to date. Last week the locals played one of almost errorless ball and were walloped for six games by the Giants and the Quakers. This week they have played errorless games, but are against the champions, and they have won two of the three.

It is a treat to the fans who patronize the local park when the Tenneyvilles are in, when their work previously was of the kind that would have been a disgrace on the basest and most batted fairly well for several innings on Friday.

Fred Tenney and his braves have every reason to be cheery after their wonderful ten games on end, all against the champions, and they have won two of the three.

HORSE RACES ON ELKS DAY

Already a fine list of entries has been sent in for the horse races which are to form one of the features on the sporting program for the joint field day of Boston and Malden lodges of Elks, to take place in Malden Park, Saugus, the old Saugus track grounds, on Saturday, October 6, from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.

The committees having and other trotting event have come in. More are expected and a good card of entries will be given a fine racing exhibit. The races will be under the auspices of the Gentlemen's Driving Club of Lynn. Horses will be called 15 p. m. Entries so far are:

2.30 A Class—Lady Nance, A. J. Pitman; Maj. G., William Cook; Sunol King, J. G. Holden; Billy C., W. L. Clark.

2.50 Class—Ford, Ormond, Frank Dolan; Prince, A. W. Ayer; C. J., Louis Cousens; F. L., Snow; Black Jack, Joseph Cook.

JAKE STAHL TO RETIRE

DETROIT, Sept. 21.—Jake Stahl, the Senators' manager, says he wont have charge of the team next year. He can't put up his game at first and look after the club, too, he declares. His retirement will be entirely voluntary.

George Huff of the Illinois University may succeed him.

OFFICIALS FOR FOOTBALL

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 21.—Dr. J. A. Babbitt, chairman of the Middle Atlantic Sectional Football Committee, announces that a meeting of the committee will be held on next Saturday night to arrange for the appointment of officials for the important games in the Middle Atlantic section. This includes New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware and New Jersey. The sectional committee is composed of Dr. Babbitt, of Haverford; John H. Minds, Pennsylvania; J. R. Fine, Princeton, and H. M. Lyle, Cornell.

HUB SLOOP IS READY FOR MATCH RACE TODAY

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—The rain yesterday rather interfered with the preparations of the sloops Orestes and Soya for the match race which is to begin to-day. Both yachts were hauled out at the Marine Basin, and as the Orestes is potheaded up a trifle more than she was treated to the same way, only the Soya had the topsail put on her underbody only up to her water line, and is bright above that mark. The two yachts, the Orestes, champion of the Massachusetts twenty-two-foot class, and Soya, champion of the twenty-two-foot class in these waters, were carefully criticised by many yachtsmen, who in spite of the rain and the heat, made the journey to Bath Beach to look the two boats over.

The Orestes is a big boat in every way. She has a big underbody, full bilges, and her keel is of the regulation type. The rudder is hung on the sternpost at a fair rake, and is much more serviceable than that on the Soya, which is a very small one. It has done good service, though, and there is no reason why it should not answer in these races. The Soya is a boat more of the fin keel type. Her lead is hulbed in a marked way, and compared with the Orestes the Soya seems to be more of a toy boat.

Clarke Loring, the owner of the Orestes, and Charles Francis Adams, 2d, who is to sail the boat, arrived yesterday morning and are quartered at the Atlantic Yacht Club. Starling Burgess, the designer, and his brother, Walter Burgess, will make up the rest of the crew of the Boston boat.

The match will begin at 2.30 o'clock, the start being made from a point outside Coney Island. The course is to be fifteen miles in length, but whether a windward and return, or triangular, will not be determined by the committee until just before the warning signal is made.

The Soya, representing the Atlantic Yacht Club, will be sailed by her designer, Clinton H. Crane. W. A. Borstow, her owner, will be on board, but the rest of the makeup of the crew has not yet been decided.

The prize for the match, which will go to the boat winning two races, is a $1,500 cup offered by Commodore Dunbel G. Reid of the Atlantic Yacht Club.

Britt Starts Training, Expecting to Meet Champion Gans Next

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 21.—Jimmy Britt confidently expects to meet Joe Gans next fall for the battle during Christmas week for the $25,000 purse offered by the Goldfield, C., for the battle during Christmas week.

Jimmy Britt already has commenced to wear a hole in the country roads, owing to the prospect of meeting Gans. Jimmy, when he arrived in Frisco from Goldfield lost a time in getting to work. He has been on the road every day since, all wrapped up in heavy clothes and sweaters. "I am just taking a little conditional," explains Britt. "I intend to do about three weeks' solid training just for the fun of the thing. Before the fire I used to train every day at the club, but since then my opportunities for getting exercise have been limited. But from now on for three weeks at least I will put into the work steadily. No, I am not doing this because there is a prospect for a fight, I am thinking more about the conditional fight I have in mind just at present than I am about fighting. I will say right arrangements are in the hands of my brother Bill. He attends to that end of the game. I am not particularly anxious to fight anybody, as I have decided to embark in a big business enterprise, involving a matter of $50,000 or more, but I am still in the fighting business, however, and think I can fix my self in the world at the light-weight limit. I would like a crack at Battling Nelson, as the fight at Goldfield proved to me that my defeat at his hands was purely a fluke. If Gans had fought him all the way I did, that is, disregarding the foul blow, and struggling with him, I think he would have fared in ten rounds. There was more fighting in the ninth fight than there was in the Goldfield affair."

Britt is now right still rankles in the breast of Britt. He would sooner fight Nelson than anybody in the world, but right Gans if Nelson cannot be secured, as it is known that Manager Edward Graney has on him the colored boy easier than he can Nelson.

CULLEN MATCHED AGAIN.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 21.—Dick Cullen, who recently defeated Buck Keyes in this city, has been matched to fight Charlie Neary at Colma on October 9.

HERE IS A CANDIDATE WHO WILL SUIT YOU AND ALL OTHER PARTIES IT IS HIS BUSINESS TO SUIT

He is willing to stand and he hasn't far to run to get to the Store, which is located at 222 Tremont Street, on the site of the Old Boston Museum. We refer to Mr. D. W. Fitzpatrick, proprietor of the tailoring firm of Splaine & Fitzpatrick.

He will be pleased to meet all citizens, regardless of their former political affiliations, and explain the platform upon which he presses his suitableness and builds his hopes for the future.

The larger the representation the better pleased he will be, and with no enmities to reward or friends to punish he believes that all fabrics, both foreign and domestic, should be reasonably paid for by the wearer when properly tailored.

Call early and have your name added to the list once more, the oftener the better.

All contributions will help materially to his success and as he is well known by the business men and voters of this city he needs no further introduction to them, and he counts among his innumerable supporters many of the leading men of the State.

He believes that men seeking appointments owe a duty to their customers, and if chosen should listen attentively to their requests, and he promises to "deliver the goods" with fidelity and dispatch.

He is "out for the coin," but no grafter.

Don't Judge a Man by His Beauty or His Nobby Clothes

By Beatrice Fairfax

THE best man does not always the better, but that is the least important of any quality in a husband.

Don't spoil your whole life by placing it above the other qualities necessary in the making of a good husband.

TO TAKE OUT GREASE

COVER grease spots on wood or stone with flour, starch or powdered chalk, which will absorb the grease. Cold water thrown on grease as soon as it is spilled will harden it, by the greater part may then be scraped off.

REMOVING STAINS

THE sun, salt and lemon juice combined are great whiteners. This mixture will remove old ink and rust spots. Sometimes three or four attempts are necessary before one attains success, however.

Girls learn that after a while, but when they are first beginning to know men and their ways they are very apt to be carried away by good looks and good clothes.

I do not by any means intend to insinuate that some of the best men in the world have not been both well dressed and handsome, but only that very often girls do not look beyond the surface—good looks and good clothes are enough to satisfy them.

If a man is plain of face and badly dressed, they do not think him worth cultivating.

You never can tell girls what the development of the gawky, shy youth may bring.

Lincoln was plain, awkward and badly dressed, and yet the woman who married him would not have exchanged him for the most perfect Adonis.

Take the trouble to find out what there is in a man before you condemn him for his badly fitting clothes and plain face.

Any girl can work wonders with the man who loves her.

Supposing you fall in love with a man who has no regard for the little niceties of dress. It will worry you, of course, for every girl wants to be proud of the appearance of her sweetheart. But don't be unhappy over it. Go to work and bring all your influence to bear in persuading him to take more pains with his appearance.

You will have to work out his vanity, but you will win out in the long run.

No girl of sense will keep herself from loving a man simply because he is plain of face.

As long as he looks clean and manly and honest, any man is good looking. If he is not all of those three, he can't amount to anything.

Don't waste your time and affection on a dressed-up dummy.

Remember that it takes more than good looks to make a good husband.

What you want is a good, honest man, a good provider.

If he is also good looking, why all the better, but that is the least important of any quality in a husband.

DOROTHY DIX TELLS HOW TO CHOOSE A GOOD WIFE

DON'T MARRY THE GIRL WHO LEAVES ALL THE RESPONSIBILITIES OF HOME TO HER FATHER AND MOTHER

Beware of the Girl Who Is Boss of Her Family

YOU are contemplating marrying, son, and you would like to know how to pick out a wife.

It is the most important act of your life, for compared to getting married being born is only an incident, and dying an episode. The kind of a wife that a man gets settles the question of his health, his happiness, his prosperity, and, in this country at least, his social position.

Wherefore, it behooves him to select the lady after fasting and prayer, and a Sherlock Holmes system of divination of what street-and-twenty is going to be at fat-and-forty.

You remember that Sherlock could deduce from a small grease spot on the back of a man's coat that he was married, a father, too poor to keep a nurse girl, possessed of a sickly wife, and a teething baby, that he had walked the night before.

The first thing is of course to pick out a girl with whom you are genuinely in love, some one who for some inexplicable reason pleases your fancy, strikes your taste and sets your pulses throbbing.

Matrimony is bound to be more or less disillusioning, and if you start out with a full head of the steam of enthusiasm you will find yourself stalled pretty early in the journey of life.

Some Needful "Don'ts"

DON'T marry a woman because she has money, for the man who marries for a home finds that he has to pay a price that bankrupts him. Don't marry for position, for there is no other man in the world who is so mistreated as the husband whose wife looks down upon him.

The woman who tries to elevate her husband by her loved down it with red hot tongs that sear him where they touch, and it's a painful process.

Don't marry a woman merely because she is good and you think she will make a good wife, for there is nothing else as hard to endure as the deadly dullness of the merely virtuous.

A shrew that keeps you stirred up and interested is to be preferred to such a one as a dully compunction.

Then up also the girl who makes cutting and sarcastic speeches. It may seem very dazzling and high spirited for a girl with eyes like stars and flame-red cheeks and flowing curls to wield a tongue as sharp and pointed that it makes everybody stand around.

It is as incongruous and piquant as a soft, little, dimpled hand making thrusts with a rapier, and it has captured many a good man's imagination, to his subsequent undoing.

Bethink you, son, that temper is like sugar. It grows sourer and stronger with age.

Easy to Know

IT is also easy to tell whether a girl will make a nagging wife or not.

If you see a girl, she can never let any little thing rest, but who harps continually on a mistake, or some offence, real or fancied, know by this token that she is one of the hen-pecked ones in the making.

If you wish to ascertain if you will be happy with your wife marry a girl and observe her in her own family.

If she be the boss of her own home, rest assured that she will be the boss of yours. If her father has to go out on the back porch to smoke his pipe you will never be permitted to realize your dreams of a quiet cigar by your own hearthstone.

Consider What She Will Be Like at Forty Years

No woman was ever yet known to resign a throne, and there are no such tyrants as the domestic brand that begin ruling with a rod of iron in their cradles and keep it up until they are in their coffins.

It is also easy enough to tell whether a girl will make a thrifty, helpful, economical wife. Again observe her in her family. Be sure that the girl who has no compassion on her parents will have none on her husband.

If you see a girl who forces her poor old father to work himself to death to supply her heartless demands for clothes, you have got as good a thatpee as you need of the girl you will have to dump yourself to buy her picture hats and lace coats that you cannot afford.

If you see a girl that sits in the parlor reading novels while her tired old mother washes dishes in the kitchen, you have a living picture of the way you will have to get up and get breakfast, and roll the perambulator while your wife indulges in nerves, if you are bibolic enough to marry her.

GRAPE JUICE

PICK the grapes from stems, wash, put in pan. Mash to start juice, let simmer until juice is all out. Strain through a cloth. Add as much water as there is juice. To every quart of this allow one cup of sugar. Bring to a boil, put in bottles or jars and seal air tight.

MRS. A. T. SMITH.

MUSTARD PICKLE

ONE head of cauliflower, one quart small onions, one quart green tomatoes sliced, one cup nasturtium seed, one quart small cucumbers, one quart sliced cucumbers, two red and 2 green peppers. Let all stand in salt water over night. In the morning boil all in salt water until they are tender. Have ready one cup sugar, one-half cup flour, one-quarter pound mustard, mixed with one quart vinegar, cook in double boiler until thick, then add one teaspoonful of celery seed, one-half cup butter, one tablespoon of tumeric. Mix all together and put in glass jars while hot.

PLUM MARMALADE

RUB the plums, after draining, through a sieve or colander to take out the stones and skins. Add half a pound of sugar for each pint of pulp. Boil slowly, stirring well to prevent burning, until it is a smooth, thick paste. Excellent marmalade is made by mixing the sifted pulp of wild plums and crab apples.

RIPE OR GREEN TOMATO PRESERVE

TAKE green tomatoes, wash and cut in quarters; to two bowls tomatoes add one bowl granulated sugar. Put in a preserving kettle and set on slow fire. Add three lemons, cut in small pieces, to each bowl of tomatoes. Boil until very thick. This preserve will keep in crocks or glasses for any length of time. Keep well stirred, as it is so heavy it would burn very easily. It is very good.

CHILI SAUCE

HERE is one of the very nicest recipes for chili sauce, which both my mother and I have used for years. Remove skins from eighteen tomatoes. Take five onions, five red peppers and chop all fine. Add ten tablespoons of sugar, three tablespoons of salt, four cups vinegar. Boil one hour and a half.

Advice to Anxious Sweethearts

By Beatrice Fairfax

FOOLISH JEALOUSY

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am a young man, married only six months, and would like your advice in this matter. I am very jealous of my wife. If she only speaks to another young man I get almost sick over it. I don't want to feel this way, and I know you will give me your kind advice and a good cure. P. B.

I CANNOT give you any cure. I can only tell you that I think you are making both your wife and yourself unnecessarily unhappy. You are showing her very little respect or trust in suggesting her all the time. She has to be civil to outsiders. You would not have her rude, would you? If you don't think out you will bring about the very state of affairs you so dread. No woman can stay virtuous for a man who is jealous of her every look and act.

A Wife's Love, and Ways to Lose It

SOME one very wisely remarked that "Marriage means life with the veneer and polish rubbed off." And, alas! in many cases this is perfectly true, hence we get the expression, "married manners."

Friends will exclaim at the contrariness and good looks of a woman with grown-up daughters.

It is her husband who will cruelly remark that "she dresses like a girl instead of like a sensible woman," and so on, indeed, few people understand how many faults and failings they possess until they are put in the pillory of matrimony.

Married manners need reformation. It should be the duty and delight of every husband and wife to shield each other's imperfections from the outside world, even to be blind to them in their own home. Too great care cannot be bestowed on words which might rankle or hurt. Love will never last in married life if courtesy departs that courtesy which prevents too great an intimacy to breed contempt.

The best and choicest manners, the kindest words and looks, should be kept for the home, to be bestowed on the life partner. It is when courtesy, reverence and respect are present that happiness reigns.

No matter how stormy and blustering the man has been in the outside world, when he enters his own little kingdom the world he will wrap himself up in the cloak of home manners and heart words and take as his guide those gentle lines:

"Be to their faults a little blind
And to their failings ever kind."

A True Home and How to Build It

"HOME!" What a wonderful word it is! morning there is in that little word of four letters, and, alas! how often it is misused and misunderstood!

And what should be "the true home" is merely a house, in which the members on one family reside.

The true home does not consist of a fine house filled with expensive furniture, where sumptuous meals are served. No, the true home is created by the atmosphere which pervades the building, and by the behavior of the persons who live therein.

In the true home there is found a love for each other in all things, believeth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things.

Every true home also contains children, and these bring either happiness or unhappiness to themselves and to the other members of the family, according to their being up.

The care and patience and watchfulness spent on the children will be repaid a thousand fold.

To live ever in the atmosphere of the true home is better than to live in a palace devoid of all but love which is the essence of family life.

"SHADOWS OF NEW YORK"

Copyright, 1908, by American-Journal-Examiner.

NOW Mr. Pardow's death had upset all her plans—her stupid letter, in which she admitted having taken the diamond, might even now be in the hands of the New York police.

"Mademoiselle Hortense!"

It was an American voice just behind her that spoke her name, and simultaneously she felt a tap on the shoulder. Her heart seemed suddenly to stop beating; an icy shiver ran down her spine.

Her first thought was that a detective who had tracked her in her flight had come to arrest her. She would be searched; the stolen diamond would be found.

Dreadful Fear

As these thoughts flashed through her mind, instantly and without turning her head to see the man's face, the French woman threw up her hand to her bodice, swiftly unbuttoned one of the buttons, and had pulled the diamond out of its pocket in a panic of dreadful fear—it was the work of hardly more than a moment.

Hortense felt she must get rid of the damning evidence at all costs at once. Furtively she dropped the diamond on the deck, as she turned her white face to the man who had accosted her.

In a moment she had realized her mistake. A young policeman, she strangely perceived, was the smiling face of a friend of her old employer, who frequently dined at Acacia Lodge.

"Mr. Rose!" she cried, furiously angry with herself for her panic impulse, still more angry with him.

"To think of meeting you here!" began her acquaintance, who admired his friend Pardow's housekeeper immensely. "Aren't you going to shake hands?"

Poor Hortense had ignored his out-stretched hand, turning in eager haste to recover the diamond that she had dropped. Where had the stone rolled to?

Alas! there it was, exposulated Mr. Rose; and in spite of herself mademoiselle found herself seized and heartily shaken, while she was fuming to recover her lost treasure.

"Oh, mother, ooh, what a lovely bead I've found!" she heard a childish voice exclaim behind her; and while her hand was still in prisoner in Mr. Rose's she saw a little girl of five or six run up to the mother, holding up, as she spoke, the "glass bead" which Hortense had no doubt whatever was the diamond.

"Let me go!" she cried, flushing with anger, trying to pull her hand away.

"What's the matter? What's till you tell me how I've offended you?" retorted Mr. Rose, unsympathetically, with a laugh, wondering why mademoiselle seemed so odd in her manner toward him this morning of this unexpected meeting, after having been so cordial as a rule.

The End of It

"You haven't annoyed me; you are only driving me mad!" cried Hortense, breathless and furious with anger. "Unless you release my hand I'll strike you—I'll make a scene——"

She had seen the child showing the "glass bead" to her mother, who was sitting by the rail of the ship's side. Hortense saw the diamond fall in the sunlight, as the mother glanced indifferently at it and said that it was a pretty bead.

The child ran to her new toy. She leaned against the rail by her mother's side, holding out the "bead" on her little palm to catch the gleam of the sunlight.

Hortense had wrenched her hand away; she ran toward the child to rescue the tiny fragment of crystallized carbon on which she had built all those rosy hopes, of a happy future spent with Henri, now drinking beer below.

The child had never been more than a yard away when the child startled by Hortense's cry, let the stone roll off the palm of her hand.

There fell the "Mirror of the Moon," flashing in its fall, to be tossed into the blue of foam that followed in the ship's wake, and appeared forever.

Hortense stood stock still, white and too overwhelmed to utter a word.

The little child was sorely upset at the loss of her pretty toy; she burst into tears.

"Oh, it's gone, mother, it's gone!" she sobbed.

"Well, you shouldn't have been so careless, dear," said her mother, indifferently, who was feeling too limp and ill from the motion of the steamer to sympathize with any heart in her child's loss of a bit of glass. "Never mind; don't cry about it. When we land you'll be able to buy a lot of pretty glass beads."

The little mother stopped crying, enchanted at the prospect.

Hortense was wondering what she should say to Henri.

CHAPTER CXII.

Queer Proceedings

IN a certain street in New Rochelle the Bywaters' maid-of-all-work was on her knees on the kitchen floor at the foot of steps that led up to the front door of No. 303, energetically scrubbing them.

The front door stood open, and from within came a smell of frizzled bacon, which Mrs. Bywater in the kitchen was cooking for her lord and master's breakfast. The mail carrier was making his presence heard in the street, and walking up the road with him was a spruce young man with a carefully waxed mustache and what young persons in certain walks of life call "a bold eye."

He was dressed in a most effective style, and his hat was tilted a trifle rakishly on one side of his head, and more than one girl, busy with the steps or polishing the windows, looked after him admiringly as he passed.

Perhaps the only blot on his attire was his shoes; these, it must be admitted, had a massive, clumsy look not quite keeping with the rest of his dapper appearance.

A Courtship

Amelia on her knees in front of No. 303, as though she were praying for all its inhabitants, had already caught a glimpse of him as he walked along by the side of the letter carrier, and felt her heart flutter, though she pretended not to see him and went on with her scrubbing more energetically than ever, in rather a self-conscious way, as this gentleman had been cultivating Amelia's acquaintance of late and had made himself vastly agreeable. Amelia was quite struck with his gentlemanly manner.

"There's a budget of letters for you this morning.

It was the carrier speaking.

Amelia turned to take the letters from him, and encountered the other man's smiling face with an exaggerated air of surprise, quite as though he were the last person she had dreamed of seeing.

"Good morning," said the agreeable young man, who was known to her as Tod Simpson, politely raising his hat, while the carrier walked on with his letters.

"Good morning, Mr. Simpson," responded Amelia, with a deepened color tingeling her cheeks. "Whoever would have thought of seeing you?" she added with feminine guile.

Considering that he had not failed to put in his appearance with the carrier any one morning for the past week, the remark might have been considered somewhat artless.

"Plenty of letters you have there," continued Mr. Simpson, leaning against the gate post. "I should be very jealous, now, if I thought any of them were for you and addressed in a man's handwriting—no objection to a lady's handwriting; but if in a man's, I tell you I should be mighty jealous——

The New Corset Is Longer and More Graceful

IS higher and longer, but much more graceful than heretofore.

Greater length and slimness are demanded above as well as below the waist, which, fashion decrees, shall grow as small as is consistent with comfort.

A feature of the new cuts is the extremely low back.

Some of the new French corsets have elastic gussets.

The "tailor-made" corset adapts itself in a most accommodating way to both thin and stout figures, disguising the straight lines of a too thin woman and modifying those of the full figure.

Corsets of large sizes have backs that are very long below the waist, closely fitted unboned and often extending for quite twelve inches from the belt.

The combination corset, an arrangement of corset and petticoat, is the reality a boned and steeled princess slip.

LORIMER WINS IN IBSEN PLAY

An important lemon on the necessity of minding one's own business was enacted on the stage at the Colonial Theatre yesterday afternoon.

It was Ibsen's "The Wild Duck," played by Wright Lorimer and his company for the first time in this section, and, so far as can be recalled, for the first time in America.

In few plays given here have the actors sent across the footlights such a feeling of sincerity and of perfect illusion. Mr. Lorimer was, in every tinder, a master of every inflection, the vain, petted, spoiled dawdler who believes he is a delicate and high-souled man, only waiting for the necessary inspiration to set the world on fire.

Artistically speaking, "The Wild Duck" of Mr. Lorimer's company is a gem. Hjalmer Ekdale is a far better piece of character work than his David.

HEARST'S BOSTON AMERICAN

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST

80 AND 82 SUMMER ST., BOSTON, SEPTEMBER 21, 1906

FANEUIL HALL TO ECHO AGAIN TO CALL FOR FREEDOM

This Time the Cry Is for Liberty from the Oppression of Political Bossism, and To-morrow's Convention Will Voice the Demand of the Independent Voters.

The first State Convention of the Independence League of Massachusetts will be held to-morrow at Faneuil Hall, famous from one ocean to the other as a cradle of American liberty.

The convention will begin at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and continue until the delegates have completed the business which they wish to undertake. It is probable that both afternoon and evening will be devoted to taking such action, in the language of the call, "as shall assure the nomination of candidates pledged to the principles of the League, whose campaign shall be conducted by friends, and not by enemies."

Delegates will be present from every senatorial district in the State.

This convention, in which will participate Democrats, Republicans, Prohibitionists, business men, workingmen, professional men—representatives of every party and every walk of life, united to strive for the State's good—will mark an era in the political history of Massachusetts.

It is worthy of comment that the State Committee has announced that the public will be permitted to occupy the galleries and see how a real independent convention is conducted. This is in distinct contrast to certain party conventions in Massachusetts in the past, in which the public has been debarred from observation of the action of their delegates. Especially are workingmen, trades unionists and members of Wage Earners' Clubs invited.

This is well. If the voters of Massachusetts are to be asked to indorse the work of these Independence League delegates, it is proper that they should see what these delegates do, and how they do it.

He Aimed at the Heart of the Public

And Hit the Public in the Stomach, by Accident

In the October number of the Cosmopolitan Magazine, which is published this week, Mr. Upton Sinclair, the author of "The Jungle," publishes an article headed, "What Life Means to Me."

This is an interesting effort on the part of an enthusiastic, hopeful, boyish spirit to tell the millions of other little creatures on the earth what it has been thinking about and doing AND WHAT IT EXPECTS TO ACCOMPLISH.

Those interested in the extreme end of radicalism in America ought to read this, as they ought to read the other things which Sinclair has written and will write.

He writes a little after the fashion of the child reaching out his hands to the moon.

The little baby has just discovered the moon, and he has a sort of an idea that he saw the moon first and ought to have it.

Mr. Sinclair, thoughtful and earnest, but very much like a little baby in some things, has a distinct idea that he has discovered human misery, and, while he is too generous to have it patented or copyrighted, he feels that it is his business to look after it and fix it up.

Certainly he is earnest and honest in his efforts.

We call your attention now to just one statement in Sinclair's article. You can read the rest of it in the October number of the Cosmopolitan Magazine if you choose.

Mr. Sinclair says, speaking about his extraordinarily successful book, "The Jungle":

"I wished to frighten the country by a picture of what its industrial masters were doing to their victims. Entirely by chance I had stumbled on another discovery—what they were doing to the meat supply of the civilized world.

"In other words, I aimed at the public's heart, and, by accident, I hit it in the stomach."

That is a clever way of putting an interesting truth. It is a truth not complimentary to our human nature, but one that we should get clear in our minds.

"The Jungle," telling of the dreadful conditions in the packing houses, created great excitement in the United States, after being published serially in daily newspapers and well advertised by the President of the United States.

But WHY did "The Jungle" excite the people and rouse them to fury?

WHY WAS THE INDIVIDUAL CITIZEN ANGRY ABOUT CONDITIONS REVEALED?

Was it because he learned that thousands of workingmen were kept in a condition worse than that of slaves?

Was it because he knew that women, overworked, half-starved, brutally treated, were the victims of the great Beef Trust?

Was it because he learned that the lives and souls and bodies of workers—men, women and children—were ground up in the profits of a shameless corporation?

NOT AT ALL.

The ordinary, high-spirited American citizen paid little or no attention to the treatment of human beings in Chicago. What bothered him was the fear that he might get something indigestible or unpleasant INTO HIS OWN STOMACH.

It was the fear of each man for HIS own health that caused the excitement about "The Jungle," and nothing else.

Sinclair's book is marvellous, strongly written, truthfully written. But had it told its story with ten times as much genius and fire; had it revealed a thousand times more powerfully the shameful treatment of workingmen in the stockyards, there would have been no excitement, no noise, no investigation, EXCEPT FOR THE FACT THAT THE PROSPEROUS AND COMFORTABLE LEARNED THAT THEIR STOMACHS WERE THREATENED.

It is much to the credit of Sinclair that he reveals himself in this article which we quote and in other writings as a man MORE INTERESTED IN THE SUFFERING OF A MALTREATED HUMAN BEING THAN IN THE POSSIBILITY OF DAMAGE TO HIS OWN ALIMENTARY CANAL.

The American people will be better, more worthy of good government, more apt to get it, WHEN THEY THINK MORE OF OTHER HUMAN BEINGS, OF THEIR RIGHTS, OF THEIR ILL-TREATMENT, and less about their particular stomachs and individual comfort.

Dinkelspiel on Writing Poetry

By George V. Hobart

HOME, LATELY.

MEIN lieber son, Looey:—I haf your letter from Savannah, Chorchia, vare you say it dot you haf taken up der idea of writing poetry yust to pass der time away.

Und you add insult to accident by asking your father if he knows how to build magazine poetry.

Ach, Looey, Looey! I doan'd know could I answer such a qvestion, Looey, because writing poeticals for der magazines vas von of der most secret und mysterious professions in der vorld.

Der only man dot knows vot does der poetical mean is der author, und der public cannot look him up to Inkvire, because he is not in der telephone book, so der secret remains locked in his bosum.

In a cheneral vay, Looey, I vould say der poeticals in der magazines vas divided into two classes, to-vit: Fairst class und second class.

Der fairst class pays der author best, because its meaning is deeper.

For a instance, Looey, I vill 'gif you here vot I called in der magazines der Comic Verse.

Dis is suppositioned to be der Feather of literature, because it tickles your fancy:

DER COMIC VERSE.

Mary hat a leedle lamb,
'Twas good beyond all question;
Den Mary vent und hat some more,
Den she had indichestion.

Many peoples buy der magazines, und ven dey come across a comic choke like dot der fist gets so full of laughter dot der chanitor has to rush up und inkvire politefully is dare a rough house.

Den, Looey, you vill find in der magazines vot is called der Rural Verse, vich is suppositioned to took us back to der farm und chenerally leaves us dare mitsuid a return ticket.

Dem vas called der vild flowers of literature, because vot ve vould like to do to der author vould be a plentyness.

DER RURAL VERSE.

In der glooming, ach, my darling,
Ven der lights vas dim und few,
Dot is ven der fresh magsito
Luffs your stylish peek-a-boo!

Den ve come back to der city on der fairst train und find vot is called der Society Verse.

Dese verses vas called der violets of literature because it chenerally costs more to get a divorce den it does to get a marriage.

DER SOCIETY VERSE.

Der house vas decked mit flowers gay,
Und sweet forget-me-nits—
Der guests vas all assembled und
Their clothes vas perfect fits.
Der haspand sat, "I vep out, my dear,"
His woice vas weak und hoarse;
"Der lawyer's clerk vill soon be here
Und hand us our divorce!"

CHORUS:

"Ve vas divorced, my darling vife,
But ve shall meet again.
I'm true to all der girls, und you
Be true to all der men!
Ven co-respondents gadder round,
Ach! please remember den
Ve vas divorced, my darling vife,
But ve shall meet again!"

Der pure beauty of dis idea speaks for itself, Looey. For dot reason alone dis style of verse vas insanely popular mit der Smart Setters.

Now, Looey, remove your overshoes vile ve creep up softly behind vot is called der Mystical Verse, vich you vill find in any of der magazines on page 20.

Dis is called der Spoon flower of literature because it stirs us to our depts yet:

DER MYSTIC VERSE.

Go, go through der solcum shadows,
On, on, through der purple glow;
Den ask for a transfer, Luffed Vun
Und ride vare der Lemons grow.

Ve can see, Looey, how hopeless der author vas getting near der last stanzum. How hopeless und mystical. Ve can almost see his tracks in der snow leading down, down to der cold river.

But did he drop into der saloon on der corner? Aha! dot's vare it gets mystical.

Dare you see it, Looey, such as ve see it in der magasines, und if der vild frenzy of der poetical vas rushing through your veins chump in und grab a pen und look needer to der right nor der left.

But, Looey, if efer you should be accused of writing some of dem poeticals vich sometimes bark at der reader from der pages of der magasines, doan'd come home no more to your father und mother—dot's all. Yours mit luff,

D. DINKELSPIEL.
